Mine Insurance Rates Are Slashed

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The long battle of the mining industry of California to obtain a reduction in compensation insurance rates and for separate ratings for surface and underground workers is at a successful conclusion today, with new rates announced by the state insurance commissioner.

The rates were fixed by the state insurance commissioner last night in a conference with the California Inspection Rating Bureau, which was attended by representatives of the Mining Association of California.

The rating bureau recommended a new basic rate of 14.22 per 100 of payroll. This was cut to 11 for underground workers by the commissioner.

The new rates are $11 for underground workers, $9.15 for surface workers and $8.05 for mill men. Formerly the rate was $11.85 per $100 of payroll for all types of mine workers.

The reduction was made after a plea from Governor James Rolph, who asked the commissioner not to increase the charge upon the mining industry and to reduce it, if possible.

State Senator Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville, author of a bill at the last session of the legislature, which made it possible to change the ratings of different types of mine workers, attended the hearing as did J. C. Kemp van Ee, secretary of the Mining Association of California.

Deputy Sheriff J. E. Nettell has taken into custody C. A. Linnell of French Corral to face charges of petty theft growing out of the same case.

Downstairs there is a three room and bath apartment while upstairs there are two with two rooms, bath and bed closet each. These apartments were rented long before they were built.

SAFEWAY STORES SOON TO ENTER NEVADA CITY

Workmen were busy Wednesday and yesterday clearing out the old bank fixtures and furnishings, tearing out walls and preparing the building for the occupancy of Safeway Stores which is expected to move into the former Citizens bank quarters in time to share in the holiday trade.

It is announced that the entire granite front will be remodeled, a door placed at the side of the front instead of the middle, and a large plate glass window to fill the remainder of the front.

In the rear an extension will be built to give the store more room, a structure which will practically cover what is now the back yard.

On Commercial street Contractor Robert Steger is engaged in clearing out the store room in the Masonic building formerly used for a theater. It is assumed that the demand for store space has made this step a preliminary to leasing the property.

RED CROSS WORKERS CAN FRUIT FOR NEEDY

A group of women under the supervision of Mrs. R. R. Goyne bottled the last of the pears donated to the Red Cross by Mr. and Mrs. John Eden Wednesday afternoon.

The local Red Cross chapter has bottled 200 quarts of peaches and pears this fall to aid the needy.

The jars, fruit and sugar were donated by private individuals and the Elks Club gave their kitchen equipped with gas range and all necessary appliances at no expense to the Red Cross.

Doctors report that children of needy families do not get enough healthful sweets. Canned fruits correct this condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Curnow left Wednesday for Berkeley where they will visit their daughter, Beth, who is attending the University of California. They will attend the big game tomorrow.

ENGINEER HURT BY HIT RUNNER

A man giving his name as Wm. Weltfit, said to be a hoist engineer, was struck by a light car at the intersection of Pine and Broad streets at midnight Wednesday.

According to Orrin Thompkins, an eye witness, the man started to cross from the Sharmrock Cafe corner to Schreiber's corner when a light automobile started to cross Pine street in front of the man, and he was struck by the rear wheel of the car or fell against the rear wheel cutting an ugly gash over one eye. Mr. Thompkins rushed to the man's assistance and placed him in his car taking him to Dr. W. W. Reed who dressed the wound. The man was taken to the county hospital and is recovering form the injury.

Captain J. E. Blake of the Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

MACK MINES SHAFT REVEALS GOOD VALUES

The Mack Mines Ltd., in the Canada Hill district south east of Nevada City, have hit a cross vein in their sinking operations that has about four feet of ledge matter carrying good values. The ledge is widening as sinking operations progress and Mr. Bruce Wallace, superintendent is pleased with results obtained so far.

The company expects to cut the Canada Hill vein in the next few days.

In the last few feet the rock formation became very hard and the company was compelled to get heavier equipment.

SHAFT IN HOGE MINE NEARS 1200 FOOT LEVEL

Sinking operations are progressing at such a rapid rate at the Hoge Development Company min ethat they will finish the 200 foot contract in about another week.

As soon as completed, cross cutting to the main ledge will start at once, on the 1200 foot level or bottom of the shaft.

CAMPTONVILLE THIEF GETS 6 MONTHS IN JAIL

Douglas Harmeson, accused of stealing sawmill machinery from the Pendola brothers' plant near Camptonville, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of petty theft in the justice of the peace court in Camptonville and was sentenced by Judge Acton Cleveland to six months in the Yuba County jail.

The court room was packed by the residents of the district for miles around. Feeling against perpetrators of theft in that community is running high. To all practical purposes a holiday was declared for the duration of the trial.

On motion of Deputy District Attorney W .C. Rucker, of Marysville, the charge was reduced from grand theft to petty theft. Harmeson appeared without an attorney and pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

Harmeson's beautiful young wife, blonde and statuesque, was with him during his appearance in court.

GRAND THEFT CHARGES DISMISSED BY COURT

On motion of Deputy District Attorney Robert Tharp, the charges of grand theft against Mrs. Bessie Gerrold and Herman Fiske of Grass Valley yesterday were dismissed by Judge Raglan Tuttle. The two had been held to answer on a charge of grand theft. Tharp stated that a reading of the transcript of evidence from the justice court indicated insufficient evidence to secure a jury conviction. William Cassetari was attorney for Fiske. Mrs. Gerrold and Fiske were accused of complicity in stealing a diamond stick pin several weeks ago.

The case of William Mitchell of Grass Valley, held to answer on a charge of drunken driving, was set for trial on December 8. Attorney E. H. Armstrong appeared for the defendant.

SKI CLUB TO DECIDE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Miles D. Coughlin, president of the Nevada City-Grass Valley Ski Club, reports that volunteer workers from among the members have almost completed a new ski course for beginners, which will give them a safe place, partly level and partly gentle slope, where they may learn.

Wood has been procured for the club house and the wood shed has been cleared out preparatory to storing the winter's supply.

There will be a meeting of the club this evening at which the matter of a care taker for the winter months will be discussed. The question of what method to be followed in the operation of the toboggan slide will also be discussed. These are vitally important matters and President Coughlin desires that every member who can possibly do so, be present.

GOLD TUNNEL EXPLORES WITH DIAMOND DRILL

Mr. Wilmot is operating a diamond drill on the Gold Tunnel property on Deer Creek at the western limits of Nevada City.

Two shifts are employed in operating the drill. Reports yesterday were to the effect that the drill was down 185 feet and turning out a core of granite.

An effort is being made to locate the vein on the Gold Tunnel property which lies at an angle from the surface sloping in a westerly direction with the vein running in a northerly and southerly direction.

Thomas Reynolds came up from the bay district Tuesday evening. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Thelma Holton, and child, who have just arrived from Minneapolis, Minnesota, where her husband passed away recently. Mrs. Holton is visiting with her parents and staying at the home of her aunt, Mrs. George Wright.

Commercial Street Stages "Come Back"

Nevada City is sustaining an invasion. New people, new blood, and new business, are being injected into the life of this community. Nowhere is this so evident as in Commercial street, the street that "came back."

In the halcyon days of old when red shirted gold miners staged their holiday parades in Commercial street when all the leading business firms were located there, that thoroughfare was the roaring main street of Nevada City, the mecca of all the mining camps in the mountains, the trading center of a tremendous area.

Then followed the doldrums when the wind of human activity came to a dead calm. The tide set away from the mountains. The business firms that stuck by Nevada City, several of them moved higher on the hill to Broad street.

But Mrs. DeWein's Millinery, J. J. Jackson's Grocery store, John W. Darke, upholstering, J. L. Smith, building contractor, and George W. Gildersleeve, well known printer, stayed with the ship, so to speak.

Now the wind is up again, the tide sets toward the mountains and "them thar hills" where untold millions of gold ore still is to be mined, and with the exception of one or two vacancies, the stores along Commercial street between Main and Pine streets are all filled with business firms out hustling for their share of the new trade which has come to Nevada City.

Witnessing their faith in Nevada City's brilliant future, these merchants today have authorized in the Nevada City Nugget a page advertisement calling attention to rejuvenated Commercial street. Last Friday another page advertisement told the story of the modernizing of the Davies-Transcript building, converted by Frank Davies, the owner, into fine apartments, stores and garages.

Listed among those who have established their business homes recently in Commercial street are the Bosworth Furniture company, the only store of its kind in the city; Ernest Carnes, the busiest sign painter in Nevada county; Marigold Beauty Shop, a metropolitan office for beauty culture, second to none in the county; The Vogue Press Shop, which is fast winning a reputation for speed and thoroughness; The Coffee Cup, where night shift miners congregate for good coffee and early morning breakfasts; Don Carlos Billick, engineer and assayer; Austin & Bannister, who have moved into the Native Sons building and are preparing to open a first class billiard and pool room with beer and lunch adjuncts.

The rehabilitation of the Commercial street between Main and Pine streets, reflects growth in population. While a year ago there were about 2,000 people in Nevada City, during the year has increased, according to very conservative estimates, to 2500 people. The increase in population is reflected in the numbers employed in mining in Nevada City's vicinity and in the greatly augmented number of children in the city's grammar and high schools. The high school now reports that there are 214 pupils in attendance, while at the Washington grammar school, 352 children are enrolled. These are peak figures for school attendance in Nevada City.

BARRON PLEASED WITH GRIDDERS FIGHTING SPIRIT

By THE CUB REPORTER

Coach Barron has summarized here the record of his Yellowjackets of the Nevada City gridiron for the whole season. The record of the boys is not perhaps so impressive in figures but the team deserve congratulations for their ability to fight. They made up for a serius lack of weight by a spirit that couldn't be beat.

Coach Barron's summary follows:

September 30—Placerville beat Nevada City 7-0, having a much heavier team. The Yellowjackets should have scored in the last quarter but the referee blocked Tamblyn out, as he was running for a goal on the ten yard line.

October 6—Nevada City 26, Oroville Reserves 0. The Yellowjackets went to Oroville where they met a team of equal weight and piled up 26 points by their aggressive snappy playing. Roznski, Doyle, Tamblyn and Pierce played outstanding games.

October 19—Nevada City 6, Roseville B's 20. Roseville's many tricky reverse plays bewildered the local team.

October 26—Grass Valley's much heavier team beat the local boys 40 to 0. The Yellowjackets particularly Rozynski did their best until the last gun.

November 3—San Juan 20, Nevada City 0. The score was 0-0 at the first half, but Nevada City gave way to the much heavier San Juan boys in the last half.

November 11—Placerville 30 Nevada City 6. The score was 6-6 at the first half, but due to the roughness of the game, Nevada City had to take out three regulars.

November 18—Nevada City 7, Grass Valley 0. The Yellowjackets played a fine game but should, with a little more force, have made a bigger score than 7 to 0.

MARYSVILLE STAR ROUTE TO EXTEND TO NEV. CITY

Through the efforts of Postmaster Phil Scadden, the star mail route formerly operating with Grass Valley and Marysville as terminals, has been extended to make Nevada City and Marysville the terminals. The route will be open to bidding along with the four other star routes. Bids on all star routes must be in the Postmaster Generals office by January 16, 1930, and the contracts will run from July 1, 1934 to July 1, 1938. For the Marysville-Nevada City route a bond of $4,500 is required. The route is 46.20 miles in length. Mail from Marysville will reach Nevada City at 10:30 a. m., and leave this city at 11:00 a. m.

MORE POWER TO THE CITY COUNCIL

The city council has under consideration a proposal to renovate the city hall. They have already obtained some furniture suitable to city hall needs. But the hall itself is a disgrace to any municipality. It needs light, it needs painting, it needs remodeling and modernizing. It is a shabby, smelly, down-at-heel meeting place.

When merchants up and down Broad street are putting in new fronts, refurbishing old fronts, putting up new and modern signs, when Commercial street has sprung to life with almost every once vacant store room a bustling place of business these days, when houses are building to shelter the influx of new people coming here to make their homes, when old houses are being repaired and painted, modernized and expanded to meet the pressing needs of a new population, it is high time our city fathers had a decent place in which to meet and to receive the prayers of our citizens.

"TAKEN FOR A RIDE" IS OLD AMONG CHINESE

BERKELEY, Nov. 23—"Taken for a Ride," the much feared twentieth century gangster phrase, had an ancestor in China during the third century preceding the Christian era, when the imperial order "Send him to the Great Wall!" was the death-dealing ultimatum.

After the conquest of the entire Chinese empire by the leaders of the small but militaristic state of Ch'in, the tyrannical emperor, Ch'in Shih Huang Ti, decided to adopt severe measures in order to suppress a growing feeling of discontent and possible revolt among the people. He was especially annoyed by the Confucian scholars who pointed out to the people the ways in which their ruler was violating the teachings of their master, Confucius.

"The emperor decreed that all the books in the empire should be burned," "saving only books on fortune-telling, medicine and agriculture. He declared moreover that scholars refusing to turn in their books should be buried alive or sent to the Great Wall, which was, of course, a death sentence. Any persons discussing the forbidden books were executed forthwith."

Senator Jerry Seawell of Roseville was a Nevada City visitor last Friday.

THERE'S something infinitely casual about the new fur coats.

Since a fur coat is one piece of wearing apparel that you usually have to wear more than one season, select it carefully. Choose something that is rather classic in cut and design.

Swagger models are very good. And they aren't apt to go out of style. Seven-eighth and three-quarter ones are newer than full-length coats. Many of them have ascot ties. Others stick to the classical V-neckline with standup collar.

Your choice of fur depends, of course, on your own taste. Alaska seal always is a favorite. It's been in style for years and bids fair to continue its popularity.

Probably the newest wrinkle in the fur coat fashion world is muskrat dyed gray. Worn with a gray tweed dress and a hat with a touch of bright color on it, you'll look a long way to find anything more handsome than silver muskrat dyed gray.

Nutria isn't very expensive and it really wears well.

FOR evening, ermine doesn't step aside for any other kind of fur. If you can afford an ermine evening wrap, rest assured that no one is going to look smarter than yourself.

Kidskin steps right into the limelight this season. It is particularly flattering for the younger girl. Its suave sleekness makes it outstanding for juniors.

Coon is nice for the co-ed. It's practically a campus fashion, however. Unless you live in a very cold climate and have an extremely slender figure, better leave coon to the college girl. It's too warm and heavy a fur for street wear in the average city and, say what you will, it does add inches to a mature figure. On the other hand, beaver is just right for the older woman as well as for her younger sister.

Lapin (really shaved rabbit) makes a nice fur for an inexpensive jacket or swagger coat. And very handsome it is, too.

Squirrel is a good choice if you can have two coats. It isn't quite sturdy enough to stand up under everyday wear. Better save it for dressier occasions and get a more wearable fur for street and office.

A COAT that will serve you well for town or country is made of gray kidskin. The strips of hide are sewn together horizontally instead of up and down.

Little shoulder capes cover the generous sleeves to the elbows. The plain collar can be worn up or down.

A gray wool dress with a bright red ribbon at the throat goes under the fur coat. Top the outfit with a sleek little beret and you have a perfect winter ensemble.

The nutria swagger coat is an interesting fashion. It's a seven-eighths length affair, with an ascot tie which loops under your chin.

A wool dress of eel gray tweed, a brown felt hat, and brown suede gloves go to complete the outfit.

Interesting is the nutria swagger coat in seven-eighths length shown at left. Note the ascot tie looping just under the chin. Gray kidskin, with the strips of hide sewn together horizontally, fashions the smart coat shown at right. Featuring this coat are little shoulder capes.

Miss Marie L. Rupert and Miss Ida Scott, who are the chief officials of the Piedmont camp for Camp Fire girls on Lake Vera, have just purchased an acre of ground above the Nevada City reservoir to the north of town, where they intend to erect a home in the spring.

U. C. HEAD THINKS NEW DEAL WILL EVENTUALLY WIN

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 23—More widspread and equitable distribution of wealth, and maximum productive employment, were cited by President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California in an address before the annual convetnion of the California Farm Bureau Federation, as the two paramount aids in completing economic recovery for agriculture and industry alike.

Consumption of goods and services, he said, through a high consuming or purchasing power, made possible by a combination of high wages, high salaries, and high prices, and greatest productive employment, could be accelerated with benefits to all members of society. To boost prices without corresponding increases in wages and salaries, he pointed out, would be of no avail. Price structures so artificially created, he explained, would quickly fall down of their own weight.

VAST AID TO AGRICULTURE

President Sproul, in describing the vast amount of institutional aid made available to agriculture by colleges, universities, experiment stations, extension services, farmers' organizations and federal agencies, called on California agriculture to cooperate to the utmost in the nation-wide agricultural adjustment program to which the University of California has loaned the service of a number of the outstanding specialists.

To bring the economic program into effective action, he said, a new course had been charted by the Administration in the direction of social justice for all and away from special privilege for the few. The entire national recovery program, he said, quoting George N. Peek, Federal Agricultural Adjustment Administrator, "embodying institutional aid both for agriculture and industry has but one objective. It seeks to raise the standard of living of all our people."

FARM HELP PROGRAM DESCRIBED

The part played by the University of California's College of Agriculture and by the California Farm Bureau Federation and other framers' organizations of the state, in making the program of the national Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was portrayed by Dr. Sproul. He cited the success of the wheat adjustment program in the state, designed to bring to 2,500 California cooperating wheat producers this year $1,300,000 over and above the market price of wheat. He contrasted this year's revenue of $4,650,000 to California producers of clingstone peaches as against $1,260,000 last year for a pack of the same size, made possible by cooperation with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The state-federal cotton adjustment program, he said, brought California cotton producers, who cooperated, an additional revenue of more than $650,000. He cited the formation of marketing agreements and codes for many of the state's 180 farm products for the purpose of improving agricultural returns. In practically every phase of the agricultural adjustment program, he said the University of California was doing its share despite a sharp curtailment of operating funds.

BELIEVES EXPERIMENT WILL SUCCEED

Describing the economic trend of the American "New Deal," President Sproul said it was not in the direction of extreme Russian communism or extreme Italian fascism, but a venture up the middle of the road toward a controlled scientific economy with a capitalism purged of its evil and objectionable features, and made to serve equitably all classes, all groups, and all individuals.

President Sproul believes the American economic experiment will win out, despite the many problems yet to be solved. The undertaking is huge, he said, but it can be achieved, he pointed out.

A strenous re-education of the American people would be required in reaching the goal, he emphasized. In that educational process, he brought out, universities are preparing themselves to meet a responsibility of ever-increasing importance.

Prepared to Save Lives

One of the most valuable services given to the American public by the Red Cross is through its Life Saving and First Aid courses. Virtually all of the life guards at beaches and pools in the nation are Red Cross life savers. Nearly every industry in America supports the First Aid work of the Red Cross because it annually saves lives of thousands of injured persons. These courses are taught by Red Cross experts in both lines. Last year 66,354 certificates were issued to persons completing the First Aid course and 78,795 certificates for completing Life Saving instruction.

An Army of Children

The membership in the Junior Red Cross last year was 6,629,866 boys and girls in schools, private, public and parochial. They enjoyed volunteer work in hospitals and for orphans, the aged and crippled, and also aided their schoolfellows by providing attention for their eyes, purchasing their glasses, and giving many other types of service to them. The Juniors aid their school work by carrying on correspondence and the exchange of portfolios with school children in other nations.

SHOTGUNS MAKE PHEASANTS WARY

SAN FRANCISCO, November 23.—Such information as has been received at the offices of the State Fish and Game Commission indicate that the pheasant hunters had pretty good sport during the first days of the first open season on pheasants ever held in California.

As the birds became wise to the meaning of shotgun reports they became more wary and made the hunting a little more difficult.

On opening day in the lower San Francisco Bay territory out of 180 automobiles checked, 85 pheasants were reported killed.

Up around Chico, Warden E. O. Wraith tells of checking 200 cars and the average was about one bird to the car.

From Sherman Island and adjacent islands, Warden George Smalley reports that of 150 hunters checked, 43 pheasants were accounted for.

While state game wardens were instructed to check pheasant hunters very closely, and make report on the take during the six-day open season, it will be several days after the closing before any figures can be presented that will give a good idea of how many birds were shot.

WILD PIGEON SEASON WILL OPEN ON DEC. 1

SAN FRANCISCO, November 23—Wild pigeons will be another game bird open to hunting on December 1, for a 15 day period. This is the second year in a score of years that there has been an open season on these birds. Last year, for the first time the federal authorities let down the bars, there was reported successful shoots by many of the shotgun experts. This year reports indicate there are many wild pigeons to be had by those who know how to find them.

The State Fish and Game Commission places the bag and posession limit at ten birds, with 20 for the week.

LEGION THEATER TO SHOW CRASH OF STOCK MKT

"The World Gone Mad," is scheduled to run at the Legion Theatre on Sunday and Monday November 26 & 27. This is the first local showing of the film. Pat O'Brien and Evelyn Brent head a splendid cast, and Neil Hamilton, Mary Brian, Louis Calhern, J. Carrol Naish, John St. Polis, Richard Tucker and Huntley Gordon also have prominent roles. The picture, directed by Christy Cabanne, tells the story of the crooked deals that caused high finance to crash from the highest peaks to the lowest depths. It tells of the heartaches and sufferings that were caused by a lust for money, an insatiable desire on the part of the people to get rich quick. Edward T. Lowe wrote the screen-play, and Phil Goldstone is credited with the production.

A newsreel and selected short subjects complete the program. Don't miss this splendid entertainment. It is one of the most timely pictures of the century.

Mrs. Nancy James who was operated upon for appendicitis about two weeks ago at a sanitarium near Colfax, is expected home early this week.

LICENSE FEES AND TAX ADDED MAIL CONTRACTS

Those persons who may be considering bidding on mail contraccts on Star Routes in California should take into consideration that the Attorney General has decided that the licensee fee of $25.00 a year, and a license tax equal to three per cent of the gross receipts will be imposed on all star routes contractors using motor transportation in the conveyance of mails inthe State of California in connection with quadrennial contracts to be let next spring. The fact that motor vehicles would be used soley for carrying mails in some instances would not relieve the contractor from paying th estate tax mentioned.

LUMBER TALKS

The Man With The S. T. M.

Of course you have met him
When out for a walk;
But don't try to stop him,
He's no time to talk;
He'll hurry along with a cool nod, you'll find—
The man with the shingle track mind.

Of course you have seen him—
His tribe is increasing,
As signs of wet weather
Old Pluv is releasing;
Look up to the ridge-pole and there you will find
The man with the shingle track mind.

Oh, wild, pelting storms
He's laying for you,
A stout, shingled roof
That no rain can seep thru;
Howl on as you will, quite untroubled you'll find,
The man with the shingle track mind.
